About Event

Eastern India is witnessing rapid growth in infrastructure and real estate development, driven by increasing urbanisation, large-scale government initiatives such as Smart Cities and Housing for All, and a rising demand for quality residential, commercial, and industrial spaces. Cities like Kolkata are emerging as key hubs, supported by improved connectivity, expanding urban infrastructure, and growing investment across sectors. The region is also home to a strong base of established manufacturers, suppliers, and well-developed distribution networks, making it a critical market for industry expansion and collaboration.

CII Build Expo 2026 is designed to leverage this momentum by providing a strategic gateway for businesses to showcase innovations, build partnerships, strengthen market presence, and tap into emerging opportunities across Eastern India and neighbouring regions.

CII Build Expo 2026 is designed as the largest integrated high impact platform that brings together the entire ecosystem of construction, infrastructure, and modern living under one roof.

The event will feature a high-impact exhibition spread over 3 days, offering participants an opportunity to display their products and services to a highly relevant and targeted audience. It will also include live product demonstrations, knowledge sessions, panel discussions, curated networking opportunities, and product launches, creating a dynamic environment that fosters business exchange, knowledge sharing, and long-term growth.

Why Participate?

Real estate and housing are one of the key contributors to India's economic development, contributing significantly to investment, employment generation, and the creation of urban and social infrastructure. As India continues to urbanise, the sector is undergoing a fundamental transformation, driven by changing consumer preferences, expanding infrastructure, evolving regulatory frameworks, and increasing adoption of technology.

Eastern India is poised to play an increasingly important role in this growth story. With rising urbanisation, large-scale infrastructure investments, industrial corridor development, and growing demand across residential, commercial and industrial real estate segments, the region emerges as a significant opportunity hub for developers, investors, and allied industries.

Sustainability and climate resilience are becoming integral to project design and execution. Digital technologies, including AI, and smart construction solutions, are transforming project planning and delivery. The emergence of REITs, institutional capital and alternative financing models is broadening access to growth capital, while changing occupier preferences are redefining commercial real estate. Simultaneously, the need for affordable and mid-income housing remains a critical priority in ensuring inclusive urban development.

Against this backdrop, CII Eastern Region is organising CII Realty East 2026 on 20-21 August 2026 at the Biswa Bangla Exhibition Centre, Newtown, Kolkata. The conference, themed "Shaping New Era of Real Estate and Housing in East: Technology | Sustainability | Financing" will serve as a premier platform for dialogue on the future of real estate and housing in Eastern India.

The conference will bring together policymakers, developers, investors, urban planners, financial institutions, technology providers, architects, and other key stakeholders to deliberate on the trends, opportunities, and challenges shaping the sector. Discussions will focus on urban growth, sustainable development, smart construction, innovative financing, the future of commercial real estate, and the evolving housing market.

CII Realty East 2026 aims to foster collaboration across the real estate ecosystem, promote policy dialogue, encourage sustainable and technology-led development, and position Eastern India as a competitive and investment-ready destination for real estate and housing growth.
